Love Gifts-A Thoughtful Way to Remember

Love Gifts are a beautiful and loving way to remember a loved one. Through Love Gifts, we are able to reach out to others with our brochures and newsletters as well as obtain books and other information for our library. We truly appreciate every Love Gift, donation and sponsorship. Our Chapter work is done by volunteers and these donations help us reach out in many ways, including the preparation and mailing of the newsletter.

Donated by Debbie Nemitz
 In loving memory of her daughter
Robyn Michelle Nemitz
 12/28/82 - 06/16/98

We Can Always Use the Help!

There are dozens of tasks that go into running our chapter and our special events, from helping set up the meeting room, to finding potential articles & poems for the newsletter, to working on public relations. We can always use the help. If you feel you are now in a place in your grief journey where you can help and give back to the chapter in little or large ways, please contact Beverley Hurley 813-832-3175 or bee.hurley@gte.net. Most of us find that when we reach a point of giving back to those who come after us, we gain far more than we give.

Refreshments

Some of us like to remember our child's birthday or the anniversary of his or her death by bringing a cake or cookies to the meeting that month. We would appreciate having you bring a special treat to any meeting. You may also want to bring and share a picture of your child. Thank you!

A special thank you goes to Rita Zvada for being such a wonderful refreshment provider at our Sunday evening meetings in loving memory of her son Christopher Cash!

Chapter Library

We maintain a large lending library of books and tapes of interest to bereaved parents, siblings and grandparents, at all three of our support group meetings. These resources are available to check out at each meeting to be returned at the following meeting, if possible. Donations of books are always gratefully accepted, and acknowledged in the newsletter. If you are no longer attending meetings regularly and come across a book at home that belongs to our library, please mail it to us at the reduced "media rate" to: BP/USA, PO Box 3226, Tampa, FL 33601-3226. You can contact me at 813-832-3175 or bee.hurley@gte.net.

Electronic Newsletter

The Newsletter is now available electronically. To receive it by e-mail, send your name and e-mail address to: bee.hurley@gte.net and indicate your desire to switch from regular "snail" mail to e-mail.

E-mail recipients will also receive additional news and information, while helping our chapter save costs. We very much appreciate your cooperation by helping us out this way!

THERE WILL COME A DAY

There will come a day
when the tears of sorrow will softly flow into tears of remembrance...
and your heart will begin to heal itself...and grieving will be interrupted by episodes of joy...and you will hear the whisper of hope.

There will come a day
when you will welcome the tears of remembrance...
as a sunflower of the soul...
a turning of the tide...
a promise of peace.

There will come a day
when you will...
risk loving... go on believing... and treasure the tears of remembering.

Michael Gerard Martini

June 18, 1964 to January 26, 2009

My brother Michael (Maddog) Gerard Martini was born on June 18th 1964.

He decided to take his own life on Jan 26, 2009. What a loss, but what wonderful memories left behind. A great son, brother, father and a great friend to many. And a master at chili cooking !!!

His 46th birthday is coming up and as my gift to him I want to say a few words to our mother and his precious children, words that I know he would want me to say for him. "Words I know he would say himself. " We talked often and had a brother/sister bond. There were many times when we sensed a call was needed from each other. He lived in Texas and I live in Florida. From our regular phone conversations I know how he loved his family.

Mommy, I know I hurt you so much and for that I am so very sorry. I always wanted you to be proud of me and my accomplishments. I wanted to be your best son. I looked forward to our morning chats even if we both got a little crazy. I loved you so much and am so glad you are my mother. I need you to know that I am happy in heaven and I know you know that. My pain and troubles are over. I only wish I could be there to comfort you from your pain. Continue to pray and believe and your heart will feel joy for me knowing I walk with God but continue to be with you for eternity. Love your son, Michael.

Mikey and Lucky, My two boys. You two guys are amazing people. You brought so much joy into my life I can never explain. Watching you grow and learn has been an amazing experience. I am so very sorry that I hurt you and I hope one day you find it in your heart to truly forgive me. Please know that this is not the answer to any problem. I know that now. Through God you will always find the strength to live and fight. I am so proud to have been your dad. Remember to believe in angels and know that I am with you always. Grow up and be the best you can be. Remember to pray and keep me in your heart. I love you both so much. Dad

Michael you were truly a one of a kind brother. I think about you often. You always told me I was your best sister (even though I was your only sister) and I will cherish that forever. I know how much you loved me and Destiny and I thank you so much for letting us know. I miss you and have an ache in my heart as I'm sure everyone else that knew you does. Our memories of each other will live forever. I love you. Your best sister, Pamela

Father's Day is Coming Up

By Dr's. Gloria & Heidi
www.thegriefblog.com

We know for some dads this will be a difficult day. We know for many there might be feelings of loss and sadness. Dads are people who like to fix things and losing a loved one cannot be fixed. As with any holiday we would suggest that you plan your day. You might want to plan a project like planting a tree or writing a letter to your child on this special day. Remember that if you have other children in the family they will be excited about honoring their dad so take in the love that they have for you. If your only child died remember you are and will always be a father. As you work through your feelings of grief and loss those happy memories of your child's life will become brighter.

*The bittersweet grief work after a child has died is the truest and most undeniable act of love.

Balcony and Basement People

By: Traci Cooley
Bereaved Mother, Tampa, Florida

Shortly after my daughter Malena died, I started a home based business to keep busy. During the course of this business venture, I was able to attend the company's annual convention. These conventions are geared toward encouraging and motivating the sales teams to sell, sell, and sell. There are workshops and motivational speakers all pushing you into "expanding your business". As I sat through many of these speakers, most of what they said I related to surviving the death of my precious daughter rather than expanding my business.

Three years later, one of the workshops I attended that weekend keeps popping into my head as my grief process extends past what the world finds "comfortable". The workshop was called "Balcony People and Basement People". I have spent days and weeks applying this to the people I have encountered during my bereavement. I continually seek Balcony people and I avoid those I consider Basement people.

Basement people are people who constantly pull you down or discourage you. Basement people in our grieving process can and do cause us much hurt and distraction. Basement people are the people who do not wish to hear about your child, they do not want to talk about your hurt or actively help you go through the grief process. Basement people are also people who say ugly or uneducated things about your loss such as "Aren't you over that by now?" Basement people criticize your bereavement or question every method you chose in dealing with your loss. Basement people make everything about them and their feelings; disregarding the fact that it is your child who died. Basement people can cause a lot of hurt (often, unintended) to you during your bereavement process.

Balcony people are the people who pull you forward and along the road of grief. Balcony people come beside you and cry with you, spend time listening to you talk of your child and tell you stories they remember, too. Balcony people encourage you to seek ways to heal and process your loss. They understand that the way you chose to deal with the death of your beloved child may not be their way but it is what is good for you. Balcony people understand when you do not want them around but stand by just in case you change your mind. Balcony people cook or clean for you because you just do not have the energy or they do not comment when the house is a little (or a lot) messier than it used to be. Balcony people understand that you will never be the "old" you and help you to find the "new" you who will emerge through the grief and loss you have sustained.

Take the time to identify the Balcony people and Basement people in your life. Spend most of your time with the Balcony people and try to limit the time with Basement people; if possible. Balcony people pull you up, cheer you on, encourage you and take care of you when you most need it. Basement people pull you down, criticize and find fault in what you do. Balcony people and Basement people; we all have them in our lives. It is our choice of who we allow to be part of our bereavement process and our lives. I choose my Balcony people.

Special Days

Spring comes and with it the uneasy awareness of difficult days ahead. For those who are still going through all the "firsts" without their child, we want to share with you some of the ways parents have coped and managed.

Mother's Day... Father's Day... graduation... vacations... these are special family times which often catch us unaware and bring unexpected tears and painful memories of young lives cut short. You can make these special days easier with some planning and with encouragement from those who have already been there.

Which ever days lie ahead for your family, try to focus on doing something meaningful and tangible in remembrance of your child. Share thoughts and suggestions about the possibilities: planting a tree, starting a garden, donating a book to the library, lighting a candle, putting flowers on the altar, or taking a long talked-of vacation. Remember, tears and moments of sadness are expressions of love. ~ Unknown
