If Only Our Children Were Easter Eggs

If only our children were Easter eggs,
Hidden safely in the grass
We could search for them and pick them up
And hold them within our clasp.

We'd have a heavenly Easter egg hunt,
All with baskets in our hands,
Searching with a broken heart,
Only we can understand.

"Oh, look I found your child over here."
"Hey, did anyone find mine?"
They are so beautifully colored,
And they sparkle and they shine.

These aren't your usual Easter eggs
They each have their own special glow
That comes from way down deep within,
Only a grieving parent would know.

We gather up our special eggs
With excitement all around,
For the gift that we've been given,
For the treasure we have found.

We all now stare with wonderment
At our children that have died.
We want to hold them once again,
And release them from inside.

But we all begin to realize
We have to crack their beautiful shell
The one that makes them sparkle
and glow,
The one they have earned so well.

We know we can't destroy their beauty
And take them from their place.
So we give them an understanding kiss
As a tear runs down our face.

One by one we take our baskets
With our beautifully colored eggs,
And place them gently in the grass
As we turn and walk away.

We look back in amazement
As our eggs begin to sing.
We see them flutter and move about
"Look, our eggs all now have wings."

Then the Golden Egg begins to speak,
"Your children are safe with me.
You'll be with them when the time is right,
Together for all eternity."

We stand there in a circle of love,
As we look up to the sky,
Watching our radiant eggs take flight
Knowing our children didn't die.

Love Gifts-A Thoughtful Way to Remember

Love Gifts are a beautiful and loving way to remember a loved one. Through Love Gifts, we are able to reach out to others with our brochures and newsletters as well as obtain books and other information for our library. We truly appreciate every Love Gift, donation and sponsorship. Our Chapter work is done by volunteers and these donations help us reach out in many ways, including the preparation and mailing of the newsletter.

Chapter Library Books

If you have finished reading a BP/USA Library book, please, please return it to our library. There is no time limit for how long you can have a book, but the longer you borrow a book, the less opportunities other bereaved parents have to read it. We also gladly accept book donations in memory of your child.

Contact Tommy or Barbara Dietrich at (813) 234-4705 or visit the any monthly meeting to return a book, arrange a donation, or inquire about an available title.

A Special Way To Remember Your Child: Sponsor A Newsletter Page

Anyone can sponsor a page in this newsletter in memory of their child. The price for a full page is $60 which includes one black and white scan of one color or black and white photograph and your tribute to your child, which can include poems, stories or whatever you like. Your contribution supports the chapter and helps pay for the printing of the newsletter.

The newsletter page will also be posted on our new and improved website for one year on the Our Children page!

To sponsor a newsletter page, contact Beverley Hurley at (813) 832-3175 (email bee.hurley@gte.net). Please note that sponsorship pages are due by the 15th of the month BE-

December 5, 2007, BP/USA Tampa Bay Chapter Candlelight Ceremony. Sandy Boehning was one of our speaker presenters this year and this is her story as a Bereaved Grandmother! Wonderful job Sandy and thank you for sharing!

Walk with me across the street to Women's Hospital. As the elevator doors open to the second floor, we are met by a wall of tiny pink and blue feet bearing the names of babies born there. Five of those little feet represent my grandchildren, four pink and one blue. You see, I have five precious grandchildren, four I can hold in my arms, one only in my heart.

I was there with my son-in-law at that wonderful moment as the doctor placed their first-born child Caylee into my daughter's arms. I was here in this very hospital (St. Joseph's) as doctors placed this same child into her mother's arms, as Caylee's earthly life ebbed away. It was the worst moment in my life. But I was blessed to have four years of precious moments in between. Each school day I would pick up my granddaughters, Caylee and Riley.. The two little girls had a ritual. Riley would come only as far as the head of the walk and sit down, testing me. Caylee, even though petite, had a booming voice. As soon as she turned the bend to start up the walk, she would yell "GRANDMA" at the top of her voice. All the parents and grandparents waiting for the little ones would laugh, but what a joy it was to have someone so glad to see me.

Riley and Caylee would spend the rest of the day with me. Sometimes, we would go to a park, sometimes out to lunch, sometimes home to watch Lion King or Shrek. Later, when my granddaughter Morgan joined them, the girls would dress up and parade up and down the hallway with makeshift instruments as I hummed a John Phillips Sousa march. What a grand time we had and what wonderful memories.

Caylee was seldom sick. There was no indication of the disease, Acute Myeloid Leukemia, that would rob us of her dear life. She was ill only five days. Caylee's website, www.cayleeshope.com, tells the story of those five days and the toxins believed to have caused her illness. She was sweetly spoiled, loved every living thing, and adored the Disney princesses. Her particular favorite was Aurora, Sleeping Beauty. The wall in her room bears the words, "Once Upon a Dream," and those words seem so appropriate.

There are no words to truly tell of the heartbreak of losing a grandchild. We grandparents call this journey, double grief. We were in love with this precious child from the moment we knew our son or daughter would be a mom or dad.. The double grief is from the loss of this precious child and from the shattered dreams of our own child. We read the great pain on our child's face and know this is a time we can never make better. Our son or daughter is forever changed. We listen to our children, we cry with them, but we feel helpless.

Then too, we grandparents worry about our other grandchildren. Are we showing them they are as important as the one we no longer hold? It is very difficult to continue to do things with these dear ones when our hearts are broken, and a member of our team is missing, but they also need to know their grandparents love them.

Nina Bennett, has written a book, Forgotten Tears, in response to her own grief at the loss of her precious granddaughter Maddy. I recommend this book for any grandparents here. All proceeds from this book go to AGAST, An Alliance of Grandparents; a Support in Tragedy. Some will ask how our children are doing, but few ask how we are, and a grandparent's grief is sometimes forgotten.

I was asked to share where my strength and courage come from. The truth is I am not strong nor courageous. I am simply propelled along by the great courage of incredible people - all of you here tonight who come to honor our children, my dear priest and his wife, who lost their four year old daughter and yet maintain such great faith, my dear friend Martha who never even saw her son Douglas who lived only nine hours, yet her kindness to others is unmatched, the wonderful grandparents across the world who talk with me through AGAST, all the members of the Angel of Hope Committee who dedicate so much so our children will be forever remembered. Most of all, any courage I have comes from my daughter, Caylee's mother. In her precious child's memory, Dawn has been able to get other children to treatment. I know Caylee is so proud of her mommy..

Oh there are things I cannot do? I cannot walk on the walk where Caylee used to yell "Grandma." I cannot take my grandchildren to the Pizza Hut across from Busch Gardens where Caylee would always direct my attention to the "roller poster." I cannot sing the "Butterfly Song," but God has a funny way of forcing me to do things I don't think I can.

When I was asked to substitute for the kindergarten class, the class that would be Caylee's, I just knew I could not be with those children, so instead I agreed to sub for the Spanish class. Wouldn't you know the very first class to come in was Caylee's class. They remembered me as her grandma, and those dear little ones talked with me so naturally about my sweetheart.

On Caylee's website, Dawn has this. "Death is a comma, not a period." So until I reach the comma in my life, my precious Caylee, I can hold you only in my heart, but I will never let the world forget I have five grandchildren, and I love each one of you.

So You Think You're Losing Your Mind Because You Need To Go To The Cemetery Every Day

There may be members of your family, some friends or neighbors who will imply that going to the cemetery every day is morbid and perpetuates your grief. Don't you believe them. What they don't understand is that we cry and think of our child whether we go to the cemetery or not. It comforts some to go every day; some only feel a need to go now and then; and still others never return to the cemetery after the funeral.

How often you go has nothing to do with the intensity of your grief, it is just another example of how differently we all react. You know how you feel, and that is what is really important. As you hesitate to make changes in your routine without guilt. Do what you need to do and don't worry how it may appear to someone else.

Rainbow Bridge

Just this side of heaven is a place called Rainbow Bridge.

When an animal dies that has been especially close to someone here, that pet goes to Rainbow Bridge. There are meadows and hills for all of our special friends so they can run and play together. There is plenty of food, water and sunshine, and our friends are warm and comfortable.

All the animals who had been ill and old are restored to health and vigor; those who were hurt or maimed are made whole and strong again, just as we remember them in our dreams of days and times gone by. The animals are happy and content, except for one small thing; they each miss someone very special to them, who had to be left behind.

They all run and play together, but the day comes when one suddenly stops and looks into the distance. His bright eyes are intent; His eager body quivers. Suddenly he begins to run from the group, flying over the green grass, his legs carrying him faster and faster.

You have been spotted, and when you and your special friend finally meet, you cling together in joyous reunion, never to be parted again. The happy kisses rain upon your face; your hands again caress the beloved head, and you look once more into the trusting eyes of your pet, so long gone from your life but never absent from your heart.

Then you cross Rainbow Bridge together....

Life Was Perfect

By Judith Friedman
Pompano Beach, Florida

In the days when life was fine
And the sun shone bright,
We laughed and planned and dreamed.
We danced in the warmth of love.

We believed that life was perfect.

Our children learned to walk and talk,
We nursed them through childhood illnesses,
And worried when they learned to drive.
We grew together, nurtured with love.

We believed that life was perfect.

Then, our eldest daughter became ill.
We didn't realize what the diagnosis
Would come to mean.
Nothing very bad could happen to us.

We believed that life was perfect.

Sometimes, love and hope and medicine
Do not make an illness disappear.
Sometimes, the unimaginable happens,
And we are left wondering what happened to,

The life that was perfect.

The loss of a child of any age
Is devastating to the entire family.
We were unable to help our child.
We look back and remember when,

We believed that life was perfect.

Available ... Picture Buttons

Families wishing to have a picture button of their child made can do so at the next BP sharing meeting. Price for each button is $3.00 and will be made during the meeting and you will take it home with you. Buttons are round and measure approximately 2 1/4 inches in diameter.

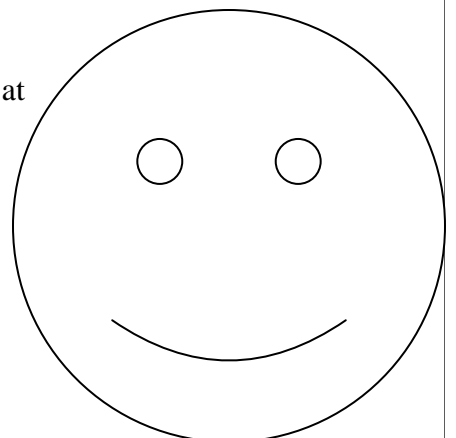

If you are interested in having a button made, be sure to bring a 3" to 4" picture that will be on the button.

Note: Your picture will become the button!

You can even have a copy of your child's footprint and/or handprint made into a button.

Note: Use Mr. Smiley Face to measure your desired picture!

What a wonderful way to start a conversation about your child with someone when they ask about the picture button you are wearing! We never want our children forgotten!

GOD sent an Angel to us - her name, Caylee Marie Cepero. For our family, pure LOVE. For others, pure HOPE.

So, this 3rd Anniversary of her new life in Heaven, we honor her for the legacy she has left here and the many hearts of those unknown to her that she has touched.

Feeling an emptiness that you can't explain? That horrific hole in your heart that causes your stomach to sink and you need to take a deep breath. This is our life without Caylee! Feeling an inexplicable shudder of longing that, as hard as you try you just can't describe to anyone. You won't get a hug. You won't hear I love you. Not from her.

What a great big sister and creative child she was. How sensitive and caring she was towards other people and animals. How cute she was with her big smile, enormous eyes that made you feel she was looking through your soul and a personality that would make your heart melt. What an extremist she was in everything she did and said. What an incredible degree of potential this amazing child had to offer our world with that amazing imagination of hers...that got cut short WAY TOO SOON.

Time does help, but it does not heal, how could time replace HER. For those of us who have lost a child, a Caylee, does time really heal all wounds? Personally, my heart remains as broken as it was at 8:13pm when she passed over on March 8, 2005. The same moment that a part of me died.

Finally, how could anyone not smile at her life and be sad at her loss. She is my child, my first breath, my pain is deeper than anyone will ever know - because she was mine. I will be with her again, but for now. This is my life without Caylee and I find joy in the lives my child has touched. So, in honor of her legacy and life, I have decided to pay tribute through the quotes of a handful of the thousands who have come to know her.

I created this site to let everyone know about a little girl who inspired me to do this. Caylee died after fighting a short battle with Leukemia.

I often visit Caylee on her Memory-of site. Caylee is dancing and singing in Heaven, showing the Angels how to party!

Our goal for Caylee's birthday is to have 1,000 butterflies posted for Caylee with a hope that someday we can find a cure for cancer.

She moved more people in her short life and tragic death than most do in an entire lifetime.

I am so proud of my child and the lives she has touched while she was alive on this earth and in her new life. For those who knew her beauty, grace, passion and spunk, they will never forget her; for those who have recently come to know her, they will never be the same.

A beautiful girl! She has touched the heart of so many.

Emma - Leeds, England

I can't wait until my kids walk through the door from school today, so I can kiss them in memory of Caylee. I will be walking in honor of Caylee and my father who died from CLL.

Jodi - Safety Harbor, FL

I found Caylee's site and am using it to teach new nurses the importance of a CBC, so we can make the difference in a family's life.

In Loving Memory of

My Son Brian:

March 7th three years ago the unthinkable occurred
When you left to be with Jesus.
The knowledge of you being in Heaven should make me rejoice;
But I still miss you so much and I wish I could hear your voice.
There's hardly an hour that goes by
That I don't think of you and I try not to cry.

I always felt so sad when a child passed before a mother;
Never dreamed how intense the pain could be,
As though you might surely smother.
I miss you so much—days run into each other.
I look forward to seeing you again—and that goes for Reid, your brother.

It's easier said than done learning to exist without you in my life,
And when I think how you suffered,
I feel pain as though I've been stabbed by a knife.

I read in a "Bereaved Parents" bulletin
That parents whose children have passed,
Are the "Walking Wounded",
As we try daily to co-exist.

This statement is close to how I feel —
I described it as being half alive,
As you struggle each day just to Cope and survive.

I pray Jesus will ease this grief,
As He puts His nail-scarred hand on me.
And that I will live in peace
Until I see you in Eternity.

YOUR BROTHER, REID, AND I LOVE AND MISS YOU, BRIAN A TREMENDOUS LOSS!

Happy 21st Birthday Michelle

Michelle would have turned 21 this month and we can only wonder where she would be today if she was still here. She still lives in our hearts and remains forever in our thoughts.

We all loved her from the moment we saw her. She was the oldest of three children and had two younger brothers. She was scheduled to graduate from Plant City High School in May 2005 and completed all of her requirements early. After graduation, she had planned to go to nursing school and become a nurse.

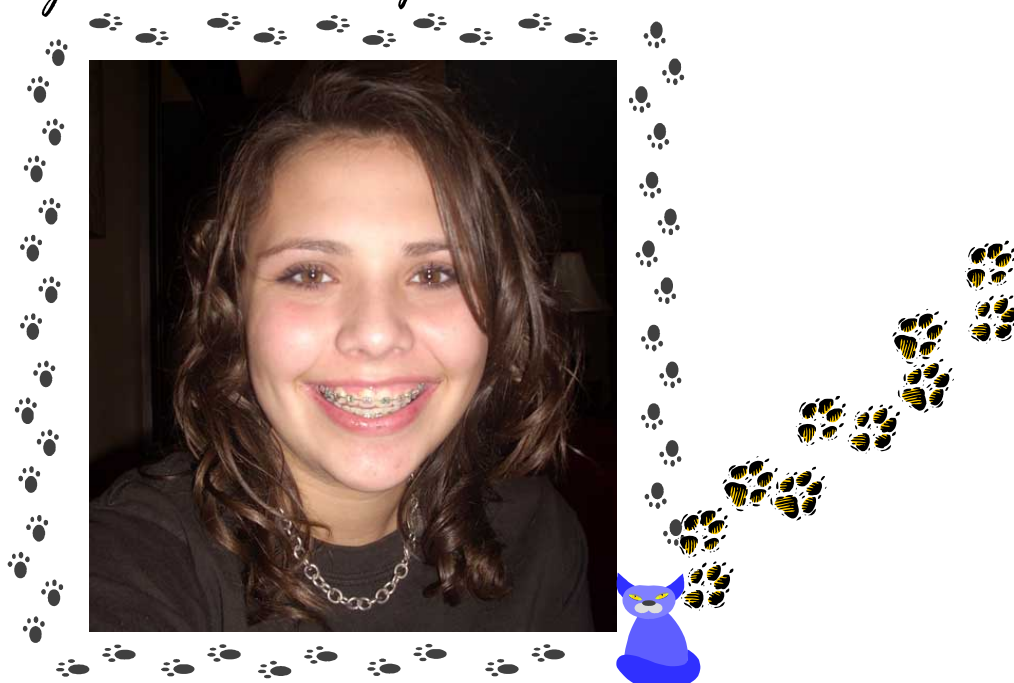

Her beautiful smile would always light up a room from the time she was an infant. She developed a love of music and dancing at an early age that she never lost. Hip-hop music was her favorite when she was older, but she would secretly put in the country CD in the car and sing her loudest. She loved clothes, jewelry, and shopping. Shoes were one of her favorite things and she never had enough shoes.

She loved her family and her friends and in return was loved by all of them. She loved to sing and laugh. As one of her aunt's said, "Michelle had a song in her heart and laughter in her soul." If you add love, you have a great description of Michelle. Her family and friends called her by Michelle, Shelby, or Shell. She is our angel in Heaven who watches over us.

In Loving Memory of Anna Elise Lowe

January 30, 1994 to September 30, 2007

My 13 year old daughter Anna Elise Lowe died in an ATV accident on September 30, 2007 in Elk Valley, Tennessee.

She spent every Summer there working with local churches and Christian youth camps as a teacher or counselor. She had decided to stay with her grandparents and to go to school there until the end of October while I recovered from major back surgery.

She got such a laugh out of going to my old school and having some of my old teachers. One of them remarked, "She was Beth plus."

Anna was looking forward to coming home to Tampa, but loved it there and kept busy with her Nana in raising money for a local Boys and Girls Club - she saw a great need for the children there.

Anna touched so many lives in the short time she was there. Over 800 people in this rural mountain community (mostly children of all ages) turned out to pay their respects to our beloved Anna.

We are more than ever dedicated to making Anna's dream for the kids there a reality.

With this web site (www.annasmile.org) we have set up a memorial fund to my Anna so people can see the pictures that they drew for Anna and some of their beautiful writings. Few things bring us comfort now as we adjust to life without Anna, but knowing that she was a kind, loving and generous soul. And as Anna's teachers said, "Anna knew no social or economic boundaries - she was kind to everyone." That statement makes us so proud of her.

Maybe if we all strive to be a little more like Anna, we would all live in a better world.

Thank you,

Beth, William, and Katie Lowe

PLAN NOW TO ATTEND:

It's time to make plans to attend the BP/USA National Gathering, Seeds of Hope on July 11-13, 2008 at the Airport Crown Plaza, St. Louis, Missouri. While each National Gathering may have a different theme, each gathering offers a safe environment where we can share our feelings and concerns and have an opportunity to learn ways of coping from people who truly do understand our pain. This year's National Gathering is hosted by the Southern Illinois Chapter, Mt. Vernon, IL, with assistance from the Lewisburg West Virginia Chapter. The co-chairs for this event are Gene and Martha Honn from the Southern Illinois Chapter and Jack and Betty Ewart from the West Virginia Chapter.

If you have never attended a National Gathering, I encourage you to make Seeds of Hope your first one. After attending my first National Gathering in Dallas, Texas in 2001, I was "hooked." While I had support from family and friends, the National Gathering gave me the opportunity to spend an entire week-end with other bereaved parents, siblings and grandparents who were actively searching for tools to help them through this unwanted journey of grief. When you are newly bereaved, you are like a little seed thrown into a deep, dark place. You need nurturing and encouragement to begin to come up out of that place and who better to offer it than those who have walked that walk. By meeting others who have walked this walk, you see that they have somehow found the courage to reinvest in life. Those who are a little further down the road in their grief have acquired tools to help deal with the pain. By sharing coping tools each of us has acquired over the years, you will have the opportunity to help the newly bereaved come up out of that deep, dark place. Seeds of Hope will not only offer suggestions about how to handle your grief but the opportunity to meet and start friendships with other bereaved parents, siblings, grandparents and others from all over the United States. I'll look forward to seeing you at the 2008 National Gathering.

We have invited several authors and our speakers to present workshops/sharing sessions. Presenters are bereaved parents, grandparents or siblings.
